

LONDON OPERA GLASS COMPANY

22,000 OPERA GLASSES LATER

Since April this year, we've travelled the length and breadth of the country to ensure all opera glass holders in our host theatres are modified and ready for the new £1 coin.

We're exceptionally lucky to have such a dedicated and professional team of service representatives who've certainly been clocking up the miles to carry out this work.

Between them, they've fitted in excess of 22,000 modified holders across more than 45 theatres, the remaining two theatres will be completed within the course of the coming weeks. The old £1 coin will cease to be legal tender after 15th October 2017... as if any of us could forget!

We'd like to take this opportunity to thank all of our host theatres for their help and support throughout this process, which has contributed towards a very smooth and successful transition.

And there's just time to draw a short breath before the busy pantomime season begins!

As ever, please don't hesitate to contact us if you have any queries or require any assistance, and we wish you a successful final quarter of 2017.

Kind regards
